OLLINGER-POTTER.

Spring's colors, white and green, and the emblem flower of Easter, the Easter lily, furnished a lovely motif for the wedding solemnized at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception Wednesday morning at ten o'clock, when Miss Marguerite Potter, the eldest daughter of the late T. J. Potter and Mrs. Potter, plighted her troth to Mr. Harry Lee Ollinger, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Ollinger. Nature furnished a perfect day for the brides of yesterday and the first marriage of the day was solemnized with nuptial mass, with Father Hackett as the celebrant, and John Kearns and Fred Hughes the acolytes. The altar was beautifully decorated with Easter lilies, palms and candles, the prie dieu draped with lace being marked on either side with tall wicker baskets holding Easter lilies. The bridal party, which was a large one, was composed of the bride's sister, Miss Nellie Potter, as maid of honor; her schoolgirl sister, Jessie Marie Potter, Ruth Hairston, Alice Hairston, Myrtle Ollinger and Allie Yeend, bridesmaids; Margaret McAleer, ring bearer; Joe Ollinger, best man; Ellis Ollinger, Ed Groves, Lloyd Cowley, Tom Finnegan, John Hooper, Jake Fernier, George Creary, Odell Potter and Louis Rittelmeyer, groomsmen and ushers.

During the mass vocal solos were furnished by Misses Lylane Dreaper, Rosalie Staub, Mary Allen and Mr. John Potter, with a duet by Miss Leona Ballweg and Mrs. Herbert McDonald, and Lillian Kaver, violinist, with Mrs. Rosa D. McCarron at the organ.

The bride who is a lovely girl, was given away by her brother, Mr. Yeend Potter, and was especially lovely in her dress of white satin and tulle, the court train which fell from the shoulders. Her veil arranged with the high ruch in the black and a pearl band across the forehead. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses showered with valley lilies, and wore the groom's gift, a diamond platinum bar pin. The maid of honor wore a most becoming toilet of white tulle with overdress of green organza, trimmed with white tulle and roses with pearl centers. Her hat of white tulle, was faced with green organza and she carried a bouquet of Easter lilies tied with green tulle.

Jessie Marie Potter, the twelve-year-old sister of the bride, wore a dress of white net with a touch of green, and a hat of white horsehair with trimmings of white roses and green leaves. Her bouquet was also of Easter lilies. The bridesmaids were all pretty spring maidens in their dresses of white tulle, with sashes of narrow green velvet ending in streamers in the back. Their hats of white horsehair had touches of green and they carried bouquets of Easter lilies tied with green tulle. The little ring-bearer was sweet in a dress of white tulle, with little tulle bonnet and carried the ring in an Easter lily.

The bridal party left the church to the Mendelssohn wedding march and were driven to the bride's home on Warren street, where a reception was held for the bridal party, family and intimate friends. The green and white color tone was repeated in the decorations of the home and the bride's table, where an ice course was dispensed by Misses Una Hughes, Ethel Marquis, Roberta Ollinger, Rebecca Hairston, Lylane Dreaper, Mabel Patterson, Rosalie Staub, Mrs. John Terrell, Miss Francis Brady of Tuscaloosa, and Misses Effie Soost and Katherine Hughes, the two last of this being charming girls serving the punch. The bride's table had for its centerpiece a bride's roses held in a cut glass vase and bride's cake was white with green decorations, the ice being green and the individual cakes were white. The guests who were present at the reception after extending congratulations to the bride and groom inscribed their names in the bride's book which was in charge of Miss Ruth Ollinger and viewed the many handsome presents which were showered on the young couple.

The bride during her reception changed her dress for a traveling suit

ORGANDIE WITH FULL SKIRT AND TUNIC SCALLOPED

By CORA MOORE

New York's Fashion Authority.

First, there is a straight skirt a yard and a quarter or a half wide. This is cut in shallow scallops and faced with the same width is cut out, scalloped and faced. Then together they are gathered at the top evenly all around and attached to the belt.

Next a kimono bodice with short sleeves is rounded at the back and given a V-shape in front. A band of brassieres and over this the bodice is slipped and gathered at the waist to meet the skirt.

Finally, two irregular widths of the organdie are lined with the organdie, plaited and rose-colored ribbon run through eyelets to tie in two long streamers at the back.

Of dark blue serge with a brown hat trimmed with spring flowers, and later Mr. Ollinger and his bride left for a trip to Washington. New York and other eastern points, and on their return the city will be at home at 108 South Joachim street.

Among the out-of-town guests for the wedding were Miss Rebecca Hairston, from Ward-Belmont College; Miss Frances Brady of Tuscaloosa; Mr. Norman Ollinger from New Orleans, and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. W. Hairston from Columbus, Miss.

Mr. Ollinger who is with the Turner Supply Co., is one of Mobile's finest young business men and shares with his bride the best wishes of a host of friends for a life filled with the blessings of health and happiness.

The groom is well known in Pensacola having visited at the J. G. Joyner home and with other friends. His sisters, the Misses Myrtle and Roberta Ollinger are frequent visitors in the city as the guests of relatives and friends. Miss Myrtle Ollinger having been an attendant at the wedding of Mrs. C. H. Parker. (Miss Mary Joyner.)

ROUMANIAN Y. W. C. A. ESTABLISHED.

Queen Marie and Princess Elizabeth of Roumania were among the guests at the recent official opening of the Y. W. C. A. in Bucarest, according to a letter received from Miss Anita Hodgkin, Chief Executive of that organization in Roumania. Her Majesty the Queen has interested herself particularly in the Y. W. C. A. and it was at her suggestion that Roumanian work was begun.

Queen Marie has always been actively interested in the women of her country and her greatest desire now is that the ones who had their first experience in useful activity during the war shall not lapse once more into the idleness of pre-war days. She says that the women of Roumania need to be shown what Social Service is and that the introduction of American methods and the American attitude toward such work will be of equal value to all classes of women.

The Y. W. C. A. is going about its work in Bucarest in scientific way. Its first preparatory step was a survey of social conditions, conducted by Roumanian women with the assistance of the American Y. W. C. A. secretaries. This survey revealed a need for recreational and educational opportunities for working women. Among the peasants on farms and in small villages, too, there is a great need for recreation. During the summer months, these women are extremely busy, but in the winter evenings they have practically no amusements, and in most cases, not more than one lamp in a house to make any sort of work or play possible in the evening. This usually means that they have to go to bed at nightfall.

Miss Hodgkin finds the Roumanian women most receptive and interested in Y. W. C. A. work, and feels that they will carry on any work which is begun there.

BRIDGE PARTY FOR MRS. HIGGINS.

During her visit in her old home Mrs. J. Walter Higgins of Nyack-on-the-Hudson has been the inspiration of many, charming social courtesies but probably none have been more enjoyed than the pretty bridge party with which Mrs. R. F. Mitchell informally entertained in her honor yesterday afternoon.

Ferns, sweet peas, roses and pansies used in profusion made the home a pretty scene for the congenial gathering of friends. Two tables of bridge were played, high score being made by Mrs. Fred W. Marsh and Mrs. R. H. Turner. The prizes and guest prize were handsome hand-painted candles. After the games a delicious salad and ice course was served.

Among those enjoying the afternoon with Mrs. Higgins were: Mrs. H. G. DeSilva, Mrs. Fred W. Marsh, Mrs. William J. Forbes, Mrs. R. H. Turner, Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. John C. Avery, Mrs. J. E. McNeill.

ELLIOTT-GARLAND WEDDING IN MOBILE.

The following from the Mobile Register will be of interest to friends in Pensacola:

"A home ceremony, sweet in its simplicity and quiet dignity, was the marriage of Mrs. Martha L. Garland and Mr. Robert Ware Elliott, which was solemnized with the double ring service Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock by the pastor of the Dauphin Way Baptist church, Rev. R. W. Langham. The happy couple were attended by the niece of the bride, Miss Alberta Pourtless, of Pensacola and the groom's brother, Mr. Edward Elliott, as best man, just some close friends of Mrs. Garland being invited to the wedding. She was married in a midnight blue tulle dress with silver trimmings and touches of old rose and carried American Beauty roses and was equally charming when she changed to her traveling coat suit of blue serge with shoes and hat to match. Following the ceremony an ice course was served by the two young daughters of the bride, Azemia and Katherine Garland, who assisted Miss Pourtless and Miss Mollie Sanchez, of Pensacola, the only out-of-town guests at the wedding; the table being prettily decorated with sweet peas and very attractive in all of its appointments.

"Mr. and Mrs. Elliott left on the afternoon train for New Orleans and on their return will reside at the pretty bungalow home of the bride at 312 Washington avenue. Many handsome presents were sent them which will give additional comfort to their home, and among the friends extending their congratulations were those connected with the furniture house of which the groom is a member of the firm, and who all united in wishing them a life of health, happiness and prosperity."

Many pretty pre-nuptial courtesies were given for the bride, but probably none were more delightful than the shower given by Mrs. H. K. Dawson and Mrs. W. N. Kelly in her honor on Tuesday. The Wednesday Register says:

"April has been furnishing an abundance of showers for the brides of the month, but none was more appreciated than the one yesterday afternoon tendered by Mrs. H. K. Dawson and Mrs. W. N. Kelly at the Dawson home, in compliment to Mrs. Martha L. Garland, who this afternoon will become the wife of Mr. Robert Elliott. The whole house was ablaze with roses, pink and white, and the guests in the greatest profusion, while the bride's chair was decorated with white roses and white ribbons, and the punch bowl in the reception hall, presided over by Miss Alberta Pourtless of Pensacola, was wreathed in honeysuckle and duchess roses.

There were several musical selections to entertain the guests as Miss Audrey Farnell gave a piano number; Miss Marie Benson sang; Mrs. Vandevender and Miss Althea Hurlburt also furnished vocal numbers, besides a guessing contest in which the one making most words out of Elliott and Garland was awarded a string of pearl beads, which were won by Mrs. R. G. Cobb, while Miss Fennell, of St. Louis, had the consolation, a box of Mavis powder. Later a two-course lunch consisting of a salad course and ice cream with cake and punch, was served by Annie May Kerwin and the honor guests two little daughters, Azemia and Katherine Garland. Those invited to participate in the shower which was brought in on a tray decorated with pink and white ribbons by little seven-year-old Shibley Clot dressed by a bride in duchess satin and with a long train and an illusion veil, were Mrs. R. G. Cobb, Mrs. F. B. Clements, Mrs. W. M. Heiter, Mrs. W. B. Deichamps, Mrs. J. W. H. Handley, Mrs. Jack Thomas, Mrs. E. A. Hieronymus, Mrs. Harold Reed, Mrs. W. B. Farnell, Mrs. Hulse, Mrs. Joel Dumas, Mrs. Albert Mayson, Mrs. Sconyers, Mrs. Vidmer Mayson, Mrs. Jack Ross, Mrs. S. A. Boulet, Mrs. Jas. O'Neal, Mrs. Harry Mallett, Mrs. S. W. Ingraham, Mrs. T. B. Sneveley, Miss Smith, Misses Finklea, of Texas, Miss Martha Felder, Miss Fennell, of St. Louis, Mrs. Christenson, Miss Heiter, Miss Mollie Sanchez, of Pensacola, besides those who assisted with the musical program and served."

Misses Mollie Sanchez and Alberta Pourtless were Pensacola guests attending.

GEORGIA LABOR PRAISES ARMY

ENDORSEMENT IS SET FORTH IN RESOLUTION ADOPTED AND FORWARDED TO HEADQUARTERS.

Atlanta, Ga., April 28.—Emphatic indorsement of the Salvation Army's work and the forthcoming appeal for funds set for May 10 to 20 is contained in a resolution adopted by the Georgia Federation of Labor at its recent annual meeting in Savannah.

The resolution was introduced by the committee on resolutions and was passed by a rising vote, the only one of thirty-three resolutions to be thus honored.

The resolution in full follows: "Whereas, It has been made known to the Georgia Federation of Labor that the Salvation Army is to inaugurate during the period of May 10 to 20 its second annual home service fund campaign; and

"Whereas, In the minds of your committee no welfare organization had a greater part in the winning of the war nor in betterment of humanity either before or since that struggle, therefore,

"Be it resolved, That this body indorse fully the work that the Salvation Army is doing and is trying to do, lending its every moral support to its unique activity.

"Be it further resolved, That we urgently request our affiliated members, wherever they may be, to remember the Salvation Army during the days of its campaign and to give their time and substance as they may be able to further its usefulness."

The action of the Georgia Federation of Labor follows a recent indorsement, given the work of the Salvation Army and its appeal for funds with which to continue its labors, by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and President Maurer of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor.

to fail than there is for sugar not to sweeten. That's one reason why there's more Calumet sold than any other brand on earth.

Another reason is—because it's absolutely pure in the can and in the baking. And still another reason—it's the most economical because it's moderate in cost, goes further and prevents baking soda from being used.

Calumet contains only such ingredients as have been approved officially by the U. S. Food Administration.
